Worried of speed radars down the streets? FoxyTag is the free solution

Are you susceptible to press your gas pedal too deep while on the highway? Are you permanently late at work and need to speed up while driving on your way to work? Do you want a system that alerts you when you run the risk of being intercepted by radar guns at every hour of the day? Here is the solution from a Swiss programming engineer which will revolutionize your life. All you have to do is download a simple program from www.foxytag.com on your mobile phone and start receiving alerts of all the nearby speed cameras.

This is a free system and it works worldwide because it connects to GPS satellites and uses your mobile web connection. You can also contribute to implementing the FoxyTag database of speed cameras by placing tags on the FoxyTag worldwide road map. This can be accomplished by pressing the 1 or 2 keys on your cellphone when the application is open on your phone and you are approaching to a radar while driving. Simple and super easy!

FoxyTag is the most used and up-to-date speed radar interception system in the entire European Union. It now becomes available for US cell phone owners as well!

Go to <http://www.foxytag.com/en/download.html> and download your own software for free. It is also possible to personalize your warning system interface directly from your mobile phone!
